Dear Nicole, Kavitha, Mylene,

Thank you guys so very much for being there for me throughout the one month training at Bangsar, KL. There are a lot of crazy & fun things we've been through.

I would really like to take this opportunity to thank you guys for sharing your most valuable experiences & giving me the priceless guidance in life. I really do appreciate it from the bottom of heart.

Well, this is the time where most people who wish it just would stop right here (including myself), But, its life & it meant to move forward no matter what. I always believe "everything happens for a reason, but, for the good only."

So, wish me luck, I can't wait to explore and experience Holland myself.

Stay healthy and happy always!

"I have funny memories upon my arrival in Holland. I was speechless because I was so cold although I already expected it to be cold but it was really winter when I arrived. Anyway, I am an au pair of family De Graaf in Utrecht. They have two kids ages 2 and 3 years old. I like being with them and do some artworks. I have a lot of batch mates from the training center in the Philippines who are in Utrecht also. We have so much fun together going around Rotterdam, Amsterdam, Den Haag, Dordrecht and other cities in this country. Because of that I can't really feel being homesick away from home. Last summer, we went to Keukenhof the biggest flower garden in Netherlands. I enjoyed that trip and also the trip to Efteling wherein I feel like a child again wandering around the story land, shouting and laughing for the amazing rides. Last April, 2009 I went to Paris for 4 days with my very close friend to travel and visit some of the known places like Eiffel tower, Musee de Louvre. This is a very memorable year of my life!"

I am so grateful that a friend told me about YES au pair. It is because I found a good site to apply as an au pair and then I was qualified after taking the tests and interview that they conducted. For me, I a bit scared to just apply on line on some agency since I really don't know the family and how things work. But in YES au pair they provided orientation about the program and they really screened the au pair as well as the family. My family and friends are also not worried that I will not be safe in going to other country since I know that YES au pair is a well-established agency in The Netherlands. I have a good time here and I am looking forward to be transferred to another country through YES au pair.

"Living away from home help me becomes more independent."

Hi! I'm Victoria and I'm here in The Netherlands. I arrived last May 2009 and the weather was nice because it was spring at that time. I'm so blessed to have a very kind host family. They are treating me well and welcome me as a part of their family. I am taking good care of a 4 year old kid. He is so sweet. He always brightens my day. Sometimes he's teaching me to speak Dutch and I'm also teaching him English. It's cool! We always playing around and having fun. I love being au pair because I am learning different cultures, meeting new friends and visiting different countries in Europe is so exciting. It helps me to understand the diversities of life better. Being au pair is one of the greatest experiences I've ever had!

Jobelle Regodon

I've always wanted to travel abroad, go to places and see the world. Who doesn't? And so one boring day in the office after doing a routinely work, i browsed for scholarships, exchange program and work opportunities outside the Philippines and i came into your page (fortunately) and the rest they say is history!

I've been in the Netherlands for almost 2 months now and i never regret the day I decided to try the program. From the 1 month training at Emilia Bldg. in Makati to the NAPO day here in the Netherlands, all of the YES AUPAIR's staff have been helpful and friendly.

Since day 1 of my application, the staff has been so warm and accommodating, guiding me through all the steps and giving me tips on how to hasten the procedure. At the Cultural Assistance Training (CATCP) in Makati, we (me and my batchmates) learned a lot! From Dutch cooking to handling stress and culture shock, to Dutch language lessons, biking and swimming and being able to cope and adapt to people we just met. There, we learned a lot while having fun! And after a month, I didn't just meet new friends, but I also made a new family! After almost 4 months of waiting, the same faces I was with back in Makati, Philippines are the same faces I am hanging out with to the outskirts and city lights of Amsterdam.

Now that I am here, I truly can say that this is gonna be one of the best years of my life, something that I can always look back onto 10 years from now. My host family is really warm and nice, perfect match?! My classmates at Volks Universiteit for my Dutch class are international as well. I've visited most places in NL and hopefully the whole of Europe with my Schengen ready visa. Thanks to YES Au pair for becoming a stepping stone for a much brighter future ahead of me.

Thank you so much for the clever idea of providing this kind of program. It's a big challenge for me to become an Au Pair but it's a great opportunity for me and for other girls to experience and learn another culture, meet different people and live independently away from the family. This kind of Au Pair program is highly effective for many girls who want to build their own ambitions and goals in life.

It can also help us to develop our personality and become more mature to face the reality in life. Being an Au Pair is a huge set of inspirations and objectives for every young girl who seeks to live a full.

I am very satisfied and glad to have become part of this program. It also built a huge training for me for the near future. Being an Au Pair serves as remarkable memory for me more than ever!!!!

THANKS! :)"

Hard to believe those 3 weeks had gone by, how time flies! Arriving at the training centre, I didn't know what to expect really. I didn't know that I will get used to the peaceful neighborhood. That retuning to training centre on weekdays is like going to a second home. That despite culture & personality differences, we (me & 2 other Thai trainees) managed to work as a team & help & support each other when needed. And despite my previous beliefs that I don't know how to cook, do proper household chores & mostly, SWIM, all is contradicted for good. For all these, I owed thanks to YES placement team who made it possible:-

Thanks Mylene,

- For trying hard to equip us with as much knowledge & skills as possible to prepare us for an unforgettable year abroad.

Thanks Kavitha,

- For the useful clarification on documentation process & laws' clarification.

Thanks Saskia,

- For the short but much needed lessons on basic Dutch language.

Now with all these, hopefully I'll be ready to embark on another chapter of life in Netherlands / Belgium soon. Until then, all the best to everyone & cheers.

The first week I don't speak English very well so I can't express my own ideas clearly. But when the second week came, it changed. I started to get used to the life and new culture and improve a lot in this English speaking environment. Everyone is so nice, they are very patient to correct our mistakes again and again until we do better than before, they also recognize us, I like it. After I adapt to live here, I feel the time goes fast, time to say goodbye. I just want to say I've learned more knowledge of communication, Dutch language, Dutch culture and how to take care of children more better. I believe that this will help me a lot in the future, in everywhere. I'm very grateful to you, everybody.

What Yes au pair brings me!!!

The best experience in my life by far... That's what Yes au pair brings me and to where I am right now.

It's started from a coincidence situation where I need to accompany a close friend for an orientation in Bacolod City, Philippines. Without any idea about Yes au pair I too decided to attend the orientation since I'm so interested in learning another language, making friends and experiencing a new culture. There I started to know Yes au pair, how to be an Au pair and all the things about it. Full of courage and support of my family I decided to go for training.

The training is amazing!! I love it!! A high level of intercultural training conducted by an international staff under Cultural Assistance Training Center Philippines (CATCP). I learned a lot of things: Pack of knowledge, great experience and unending bond of friendship with my batch mates and trainers. It's a great introduction to Dutch culture.

Here I am right now; experiencing the best stage of my life, exploring the Amsterdam atmosphere with impressive architecture, lovely canals that cross cross the city, great shopping and friendly people who nearly all speak English well. With a warm welcome in a family of three, taking care of a seven months baby girl, who are very supportive, kind and caring. In my four months of living with them, I never felt the "homesickness" thing. I felt so lucky and thankful being treated as a member of their family.

For how and what will be the ending of my year in here? That's the question I never think yet. All I want right now is to enjoy and explore my stay in Netherlands. I love everything in here.

Thank you Yes au pair for bringing me here!!!
